Course Description

PSYC 224 Social Psychology:

An introduction to the factors and processes involved in people's understanding of themselves, others, and social interactions. Attention is given to research in such areas as social perception, gender, group interaction, attitude formation and change, aggression, social influence, interpersonal attraction, prejudice and discrimination, and pro-social behavior with particular emphasis given to differences relating to gender, race, and class.

Learning Objectives:

Goal 1: Knowledge of Psychology

- Objective 1: Students will develop a critical understanding of the scientific method and its application.
- Objective 2: Students will obtain an understanding of major concepts, theories and research findings across a range of sub-disciplines within psychology.

Goal 2: Communication in Psychology

- Objective 3: Students will learn how to present ideas and have productive conversations.
- Objective 4: Students will develop their scientific writing skills.

Goal 3: Personal Development

- Objective 5: Students will gain insight about their behavioral patterns, motivations, feelings, abilities, and impact on others.

Course Expectations:

Classroom instruction is a principle component of the educational process. Students and faculty have a mutual responsibility for contributing to the academic environment of the classroom. Consistent class attendance and participation in classroom activities are essential. Students are expected to attend all classes. Per federal regulations, students are expected to engage in two (2) hours of study outside of class for each semester hour in class. For this five week 4-credit course, this reflects 50 hours of classroom time and 100 hours of out-of-class time.

Late assignments will be accepted but are subject to a 10% penalty for each day late. Missed exams will be given a grade of zero. Make up exams will only be allowed if there is written documentation that the student was incapable of taking the exam due to an illness or emergency. If a student has a known conflict, such as a religious observance, then arrangements should be made with the instructor the week before the exam/ assignment for an alternative completion date.

Requirements:

Each week students will take an exam that covers course lectures and chapter readings. The exams will have multiple choice questions and two short essays. In addition, there are weekly written assignments (1-2 pages) based on in-class lab activities.
