

ECON205 INTERMEDIATE MACROECONOMICS
BRIDGEWATER STATE UNIVERSITY

Professor: TBA

Location: Online

Credits: 3

Semester: Summer I 2021 May 31, 2021- June 25, 2021

Required Text: Mankiw's Macroeconomics, 10th edition, 2019 (earlier editions are acceptable if students are willing to make needed adjustments to chapter updates)

Course Description: A number of macroeconomic models are developed in this course, including Keynesian, monetarist, and rational expectations models. Economic theory is used to explore the nature and causes of business fluctuations and the desirability of various government policies.

Course Objectives: When you have completed this course, you should have acquired the following: 1. specific knowledge about macroeconomic concepts and terminology 2. a new perspective in seeing and understanding economic applications in news stories 3. the ability to think like an economist, as you apply economic reasoning to problems that arise in the home, workplace, and community 4. opportunities to learn how technology is changing the world, thereby affecting your experiences both as college students and as buyers/sellers in the marketplace 5. the chance to conduct macroeconomic research.

Assignments/Exams: Students are expected to pace themselves in reading the assigned material in the Mankiw text in accordance with the class schedule. Throughout the course, there will be 10 Discussion Board assignments and two online examinations. In addition, students will write a 5-6 page research paper on a topic relating to macroeconomics that is due at the end of the course.

Flipgrid Assignments: Students will participate in Flipgrid at the beginning of the course to create a short video to introduce themselves to the class (up to 90 seconds), and again at the end of the course to share their paper results with the class (again, up to 90 seconds). Flipgrid is a free video program offered to all BSU students with an app that can be downloaded to your phone (or PC with video recording capability). It's a great way to meet and see what other students in the class are doing.

Grading: The course work will be weighted as follows: two online mid-term examinations (30% each); 10 Discussion Board and 2 Flipgrid assignments (20%); research paper (20%).

Overview of ECON205 Summer I 2020 Course Schedule

Chapter 1 The Science of Macroeconomics

Chapter 2 The Data of Macroeconomics

Chapter 3 National Income: Where it Comes From and Where It Goes

Chapter 4 Monetary System: What It is and How it Works

Chapter 5 Inflation: Its Causes, Effects, and Social Costs

Exam #1- Each student takes the exam online, working independently. The exam includes multiple choice questions, mathematical problem(s), a scavenger hunt, and essay(s). Exam #1 will be available online in Blackboard and students can log in and take it during any 4-hour interval within the period June 14-18, 2021. Assignments 1-5 must be completed on the Discussion Board prior to taking Exam #1. (There are no specific due dates for the individual assignments.)

Chapter 6 The Open Economy

Chapter 10 Introduction to Economic Fluctuations

Chapter 11 Aggregate Demand I: Building the IS-LM Model

Chapter 12 Aggregate Demand II: Applying the IS-LM Model

Chapter 14 Aggregate Supply and the Short-Run Tradeoff Between Inflation and Unemployment (Briefly review content of Chapter 18 The Financial System: Opportunities and Dangers and Chapter 19 The Microfoundations of Consumption and Investment)

Exam #2- Each student takes the exam online, working independently. The exam includes multiple choice questions, mathematical problem(s), a scavenger hunt, and essay(s). Exam #2 will be available online in Blackboard and students can log in and take it within the period June 21 - 25, 2021. Assignments 6-10 must be completed on the Discussion Board prior to taking Exam #2. (There are no specific due dates for the individual assignments.)

The 5-6 page paper on a macroeconomics topic and the student's Flipgrid summary are both due by June 25, 2021.

There will be an opportunity for students to post their paper titles on the Discussion Board prior to beginning their final papers.