

ECON 101 – Principles of Macroeconomics

Course Information

Semester	: Summer 2021 (June 28, 2021 – July 30, 2021)
Credit	: 4
Teaching Hours	: 50 Hours
Location	: Online
Professor Name	: TBD
E-mail	: TBD

Course Description

This course is primarily a study of the United States free enterprise system and its place in the global economy. After a consideration of basic economy concepts, the student is introduced to the forces that determine national income, employment, recession, inflation, and economic growth. Monetary and fiscal policy options are analyzed with emphasis on the economic, social, and political consequences.

Concepts are discussed using common language and mathematical relationships with a strong focus on practical application.

Course Objectives:

By the end of the semester you should have a basic grasp of economic principles that you can apply in your personal and professional life. This course should also enable you to better understand current events and help provide a framework for subsequent finance courses.

Target skills to be acquired include these:

1. Understanding the principles of economics;
2. Ability to differentiate between short-term and long-term economic fluctuations; and
3. Understanding the interactions among consumers, producers, and the efficiency of markets

Course Expectations:

For our accreditation, it is essential that all Framingham State University credit courses follow the Federal Definition of credit hour: for every one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction, a minimum of two hours of out-of-class student work is required. Since the summer courses meet for two contact hours daily (10 contact hours of classroom time weekly), the expectation is that students spend 20 hours per week doing out-of-class work. For the five week 4-credit course, this reflects 50 hours of classroom time and 100 hours of out-of-class time since the credit hour is defined as 50 minutes.

Required Text

Principles of Macroeconomics, Mankiw, eighth edition, published by Cengage Learning.

Class Format:

This is an online class for the summer, which will provide lectures, videos, and organized discussions that allow students the possibility to learn the material from different perspectives. The instructor will be available online through online meeting platforms like Zoom to help with student's questions and concerns about the courses. Quizzes and problem sets will be uploaded on Blackboard. We will use Blackboard discussion board to discuss regularly.

Teaching Methodology: Class lectures will be supplemented with notes and problems presented as PowerPoint slides and will be reinforced by online class discussions, current news online discussions, and problem-solving sessions. Students are expected to participate actively in online discussions and will be called on frequently. The use of laptops for notetaking is permitted, however all other uses, including email, social media, etc. are considered to be rude and are strictly prohibited. Similarly, all use of cell phones and other electronic devices is prohibited.

Exams: Exams will be held online. Exams are not cumulative per se but there will be concepts learned in class that serve as a foundation for future topics. Students will be permitted to create a "cheat sheet" to serve as a reference during the exams. Cheat sheets are limited to the front and back of one piece of paper and may not be shared with other students.

Homework Assignments: These assignments are intended to ensure that you read and practice the material in the chapter and serve as very good preparation for the exams. Grades for each assignment are based on your having tried to answer the questions, not in getting them right the first time.

The assignments and their due dates are presented in the separate Meetings and Assignments document and no late submissions will be accepted. Every student is allowed to miss one homework assignment without penalty.

How to Do Well in This Class

1. Read newspapers, watch TV news, and monitor internet reporting about what is happening in the world.
2. Show up for class. Be punctual.
3. Participate in online discussions of material presented during class.
4. Read the chapter assignments.
5. Answer the homework questions.
6. Work on your exam “cheat sheets” on an ongoing basis.
7. Form study groups.

Policies

1. Missed or Late Assignments

If you do not submit an assignment (including, but not restricted to, exams, quizzes, case studies, papers, and online presentations) by the required time/date, your grade is “0” unless your absence is due to a documented medical issue. To be accommodated for a rescheduled exam because of a documented medical issue, the student is required to contact the instructor to request accommodation. The instructor will in all cases require students to provide additional documentation to justify the accommodation; a simple note indicating that you were seen at the health center does not provide sufficient documentation. Traveling out of town is not an excuse for not meeting a deadline. Exceptions will not be granted for activities such as trips, sporting events, etc.

2. Extra Credit

No extra credit is offered for this class.

3. Attendance

While regular and timely class attendance is expected, every student is granted one absence for grading purposes. Frequent tardiness is disruptive to the class and rude to the instructor and will be treated as a class absence. Frequent absences will affect your participation grade. The dates for exams are fixed and will not be changed.

4. Student Conduct

Framingham State University has established rules and regulations that all students are expected to follow. Students have a right to expect enforcement of these rules and regulations. The University also has the right to expect students to abide by these regulations in a manner that benefits the responsibilities given to students as members of the University community. Knowledge of these rules and regulations can prove beneficial to students in utilizing and protecting their rights. Lack of familiarity with institutional rules or regulations is not grounds for excusing infractions. For all the details on Students’ Code of Conduct please visit: Ram Handbook.

5. Academic Honesty Policy

Integrity is essential to academic life. Consequently, students who enroll at Framingham State University agree to maintain high standards of academic honesty and scholarly practice. You will be responsible for familiarizing yourself with the published policies and procedures regarding academic honesty. Infractions of the Policy on Academic Honesty include, but are not limited to:

Framingham

State University
