Course Description

This course allows students to understand ways in which managers acquire; train appraises and compensates employees while at the same time attending to aspects related to labor relations, health, and safety as well as fairness concerns. It is designed to facilitate learning about personnel function within profit and nonprofit organizations. The course covers the procurement, development, compensation, integration, and maintenance of personnel.

Learning Objectives:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

- learn the basic concepts of the field of Human Resource Management.
- develop an understanding of how laws, organization strategy, recruitment, placement, talent management, training and development, compensation, and topics that enrich HRM affect Human resource management in organizations.
- provide knowledge of contemporary issues, principles, and practical techniques associated with effective Human Resource Management.
- develop an understanding of macro issues that enrich the field of human resource management such as ethics, labor relations, employee safety, and health and global human resources.
- analyze the work of human resource managers in influencing work performance among individuals and teams, through discussion presentations and case exercises.
- develop an understanding of the laws and theories used in Human Resource Management.

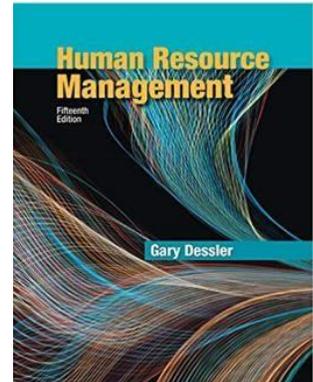

Class Hours:

Note: Federal regulations dictate that students are required to engage in two hours of work outside of class for each credit hour. So, for a 4-credit course, students are expected to work 8 hours per week outside the regular classroom meeting times. In summary, for 4-credit classes, including online and hybrid classes, students are expected to engage with the course material for a total of 12 hours per week.

Online Class Activities (100 points; 10% of grade): Professor will assign two online class activities (one at the beginning and the other one at the end of the semester). Students are expected to attend and complete the assignment in the class to get a grade. The student MUST contact the instructor PRIOR (minimum 24 hours) to the due date if student have any issues with the attendance. The professor will not consider a make-up if you did not contact the instructor prior to the scheduled submission. (A timed/dated email is sufficient notice).

Hiring for a Position Project & Online Presentation (200 points; 20% of final grade):

Students will identify a potential position in an organization of choice. Students are expected to do thorough background research on the position through research journal articles, books, internet resources, magazines, newspapers, etc. Using the concepts and materials learned in class chapters each student will prepare a paper/report (8-10 pages, double-spaced, 1" margins, and size 12 fonts). The report should include available examples that enhance the answer to the questions and pointers below. Your report should provide comprehensive answers to the following pointers:

- Which laws should be followed when hiring for your chosen position?
- Create a job analysis for the position. Include the job description and job specification for the position.
- Develop a recruitment and selection plan. Include the target area (internal or external), design an application form for the position and indicate the selection tools used.
- Explain what screening tools (tests) you would use for the position to achieve the best candidate that fits the organization.
- Design unstructured and structured interview questions for the position
- Give and explain the type of training required for the candidate in the position.
- Choose the technique you would use to appraise the position. Design an example of the areas you would evaluate.
- What retentive measures would you undertake to reduce turnover on the position?
- Develop a strategic pay plan for the position. Include ways in which you evaluated the position to formulate a competitive offer for the position. What benefits and services would you offer to be competitive?

APA, Sixth Edition format, should be followed in preparing the report. All referenced materials should be cited (See note on plagiarism below). The project requires a minimum of 30 hours to complete.

Preparation, Attendance, & Participation (100 points, 10% of final grade): All students are expected to come prepared for this class and to participate in online class discussions and online activities. Ten percent (10%) of the final grade will be based on attendance, preparation, and thoughtful, respectful participation in class. Excused absences due to illness, family emergencies, or religious beliefs and practices will not count toward this grade reduction. Students who need to miss any class for religious purposes should notify the instructor in advance. The absence will be excused, and the students will have an opportunity to make up any course work. Students who miss class for an extended period of time (3 or more days) should contact Student Affairs to document the reason for the absence. This will not necessarily excuse the absence, but will help the instructor determine how to address the absence. Student with three unexcused absences will get “F” automatically.

Exams (600 points; 60% of grade): There will be four quizzes and a final exam with 600 points (60% of the final grade). The Exams will be held in class on scheduled day, and will cover material from lectures and readings. The final will be a mixture of matching, short answer, fill in the blank, multiple choice, and short essays, and will also include application sections.

Make-up exams are at the discretion of the course instructor. You MUST contact the instructor PRIOR to the exam if you will miss the exam. No make-up exam will be scheduled if you did not contact the instructor prior to the scheduled exam. (A timed/dated email is sufficient notice).

Policies

Online Classroom Behavior & Civility: Being a Framingham State University student requires appropriate adult behavior and respect for others. Please be respectful of other students and of the instructor in all interactions, including lectures, online group work, and online class discussions. Students may use devices such as laptops and tablets to take notes during class. Class topics will sometimes benefit from in-class internet searches. At these times, students will be encouraged to use their computers and other devices to actively look up and share information.

Recording Class: No student may record any classroom activity without express written consent from the professor. If you have (or think you may have) a disability such that you need to record or tape classroom activities, you should contact the Office of Equal Opportunity Services, Disability Resources to request an appropriate accommodation.

Academic Honesty: All work should reflect each student's own abilities and efforts. Evidence of cheating or plagiarism will be referred to the Framingham State University administration for disciplinary action, and may result in zero credit for the assignment/exam. For written and oral work, any reference to the work or results of another person must give full credit, including a list of references with information about the source. Whenever a source's exact words are included, quotation marks must indicate that it is a quote from the source, followed by a reference to the source. Failure to give credit to the original author(s) is plagiarism, and is in violation of the Framingham State University academic honesty policy. Please refer to the University's Academic Policy in the undergraduate course catalogue:

Communication: The official communication mechanism at Framingham State University is the assigned campus email. The instructor will communicate information about the course with students via the Blackboard email system. Please check email regularly. In-depth questions for the instructor should be addressed in-person. Minor questions may be sent via email. The instructor will respond within 24 hours Monday-Friday, and within 48 hours over weekends or holidays. Any significant concern from the class should be addressed with the instructor through an appointment or during office hours; email is not an appropriate method to resolve significant concerns.

Documented Disabilities: Framingham State University is committed to providing an equal educational opportunity for all students. If you have a documented disability and need any kind of special accommodations for this class, please contact Academic Support (Ms. LaDonna Bridges at lbridges@framingham.edu or 508-626-4906). Please be aware that any request for special accommodations for testing must be made at least 24 hours prior to scheduled exams or the final exam.
